

Putting more performance into high performance schools

High Performance Schools	Water Saved
The Evergreen State College	2.4 million gallons
Petaluma City Schools	3.6 million gallons
Michigan State University	2.1 million gallons

Falcon Waterfree systems put more “performance” into high performance schools

The Falcon Waterfree urinal is one of those rare products that save money and time while conserving natural resources. Schools and colleges choose Falcon Waterfree when upgrading their campus restrooms, and as a result they:

- Save water and help the environment
- Reduce cost and stretch budgets
- Improve restroom hygiene

“Everyone wins with waterfree urinals because the restrooms are cleaner, there’s no odor, they save water, and cut maintenance costs. They are clearly superior!”

Michel George
Associate Vice President for Facilities Administration
Seattle University

How much can you save with Falcon Waterfree systems?

Save 100 percent of:

- Water charges
- Sewer charges
- Valve maintenance

For every 10,000 students and staff, the average savings* add up to:

- 6 million gallons of water and sewer charges per year, or $30,000 (at $5 per 1,000 gallons combined water and sewer charges)
- 200 hours of maintenance per year or $15,000 (at $75 average per flush valve)

*Based on one urinal per 50 students and 180 school days per year.

How much do they cost?

With municipal rebates, Falcon matching rebates, and lease/purchase options, the cost can be surprisingly low (at no cost in some cases). Falcon Waterfree can develop a plan with minimal or no impact on your budget.

Your institution and budget can be among the greenest in the nation
